

2020 INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF THE NURSE AND THE MIDWIFE

Save the Date!

Date: 11-13 November Melbourne
Theme: The heart of Neuroscience Nursing

Movement Disorders
Neurology and Stroke
Neurosurgery and Critical Care

This year ANNA bring you a combined conference with a three day program which includes movement disorders as well as all aspects of neuroscience nursing. Why don't you consider presenting a local project or subject of interest to you and inspire others! If its your first time, no problem, we are here to support you. Or simply come and enjoy the conference and networking opportunity. Be inspired!

<https://www.anna.asn.au/>

2020
INTERNATIONAL YEAR
OF THE NURSE AND
THE MIDWIFE

A Call for abstracts

First time presenting at a conference? No problem, come and present to a supportive nursing community at the Australasian Neuroscience Nurses Association (ANNA) conference in Melbourne 2020! You will be given 15 minutes to present. You may also choose to enter a competition to win an award as a financial member of ANNA!

You may also choose to design and print a poster to display at the conference of your fantastic work. There will be time to explain your poster during one of the breaks.

Whichever presentation method you choose, the abstract must be submitted by 1 May 2020 of no more than 300 words. All papers presented must be original work and will become property of the Australasian Neuroscience Nurses Association and reviewed for suitability for publication in the Australasian Journal of Neuroscience.

Please submit your abstract via the website:

<https://www.anna.asn.au/abstract-submission-guidelines/>

